Corps Comp Study

Kevin Elcock, DWR Comp Study, attended the meeting to give the group an update on the result of the San Joaquin Basin Interactive Workshops. Elcock mentioned that workshops were primarily a starting point for the Master Plan. He added that the next step is to associate various solutions that include sorting through pluses and minuses that will work for the people. Extensive outreach will continue through SJRMP and face-to-face methods. Elcock stated that locals were mainly concerned with water rights, local ordinance compliance, and losing property. Preferred alternatives are to be released by February of next year.

Dale Mitchell, DFG & John Shelton, DWR talked to the group about reviving the Fisheries & Wildlife Subcommittee. Shelton explained that there are many projects in the near future potentially with the Bureau of Reclamation, Caltrans, and San Joaquin River Parkway. Shelton emphasized that there is a need for more coordination with these projects and different agencies. He mentioned that SJRMP could be used to obtain ideas on how to get better coordinated with both public and private interests. This topic will be on the next meeting agenda to discuss communication protocol and members of the subcommittee. Inquiries should be directed to Dale Mitchell or John Shelton (see attendance sheet).
